

Never Say a Mean Word Again: A Tale from Medieval Spain

Written by Jacqueline Jules; Illustrated by Durga Yael Bernhard

Never Say a Mean Word Again is the compelling tale of two boys, one Jewish and one Muslim, trying to settle their differences. Based on a powerful legend from medieval Spain, its message of a peaceful solution is as appropriate today as ever.

This light-hearted look at the very serious issue of conflict resolution amongst children will appeal to children and adults alike. It illustrates how friendship and kindness can help settle some disputes.

About This Book:

- ❖ This multicultural book is the story of a boy who is given permission by his father, the grand vizier (highest royal advisor), to punish an enemy. “Make sure Hamza never says a mean word to you again,” he orders Samuel. What will he do?
- ❖ Inspired by the life story of Jewish poet Samuel Ha-Nagid (993-1056), who was the vizier in Muslim Spain

- ❖ Features 32 pages of colorful illustrations in a striking design, evocative of medieval Spain
- ❖ Explores the challenges of friendship across cultures and social status
- ❖ Addresses the question of fair punishment for name-calling
- ❖ Models behavior for turning an adversary into a friend

Publication Details:

- ❖ ISBN: 978-1-937786-20-5
- ❖ Pub Date: May 2014
- ❖ Price: $16.95
- ❖ Trim Size: 8”x10”
- ❖ Page Count: 32 hardback

Praise for the Author

“Jules’s use of repetitive fairy tale elements will have children giggling and guessing at what happens next.”

—Publishers Weekly

“Jules has a talent for revealing emotions to children via simple language. She cuts to the heart of it with a few words.”

—InterfaithFamily.com

“Jacqueline Jules has always been able to tell a story with meaning. . . . The ability to see beyond differences and to find ways to communicate is a valuable talent.”

—MyShelf.com

“Jacqueline Jules makes you always want to continue reading and anxious to pick up the book to finish!”

—The Styling Librarian

Selections from the Book

Sample Pages

About the Author

JACQUELINE JULES is a former school librarian and teacher, and the author of over two dozen books for children, including the award-winning Zapato Power series. Many of her titles are of special interest to young Jewish readers, including The Hardest Word, a National Jewish Book Award finalist, and Sydney Taylor Honor Award winners Sarah Laughs and Benjamin and the Silver Goblet. Jacqueline's sensitivity to themes that engage children is evident in her choice of topics, such as being away at camp, starting at a new school and being unable to communicate in English, name calling, and being from a different culture in America. She lives with her family in Northern Virginia, near Washington, D.C. Visit her online at www.jacquelinejules.com.

About the Illustrator

DURGA YAEL BERNHARD was raised in New York's Hudson Valley and began painting at the age of thirteen. She is the illustrator of numerous award-winning children's books, including fiction and non-fiction, natural science titles, and multicultural folktales. Ms. Bernhard is also a children's teacher of Hebrew, Judaics, and illustration. Visit her online at www.dyaelbernhard.com.

