Illustrated by Isabelle Brent

Do you sometimes feel unhappy or jealous and don't know what to do? A long time ago, Anthony (c. 251-360 A.D.) felt like this, but decided to do something about his sad heart. He gave up everything he owned and set out with nothing to find answers. His journey took him into the desert of Egypt, where he came face to face with many temptations. But through being quiet and alone in the wilderness, Anthony discovered the power of God's love in his heart. For many years Anthony taught other people how to live with love, joy, courage, and peace. People can still learn from him today, if only they pay attention to his good life and teachings. The answers are also there for you. Will you take the journey with us?

Praise for Saint Anthony the Great

“... [Saint Anthony the Great] tells the story of a saint deeply important in both the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox traditions, filling a critical niche.”

—Kirkus Reviews

Selections from the Book

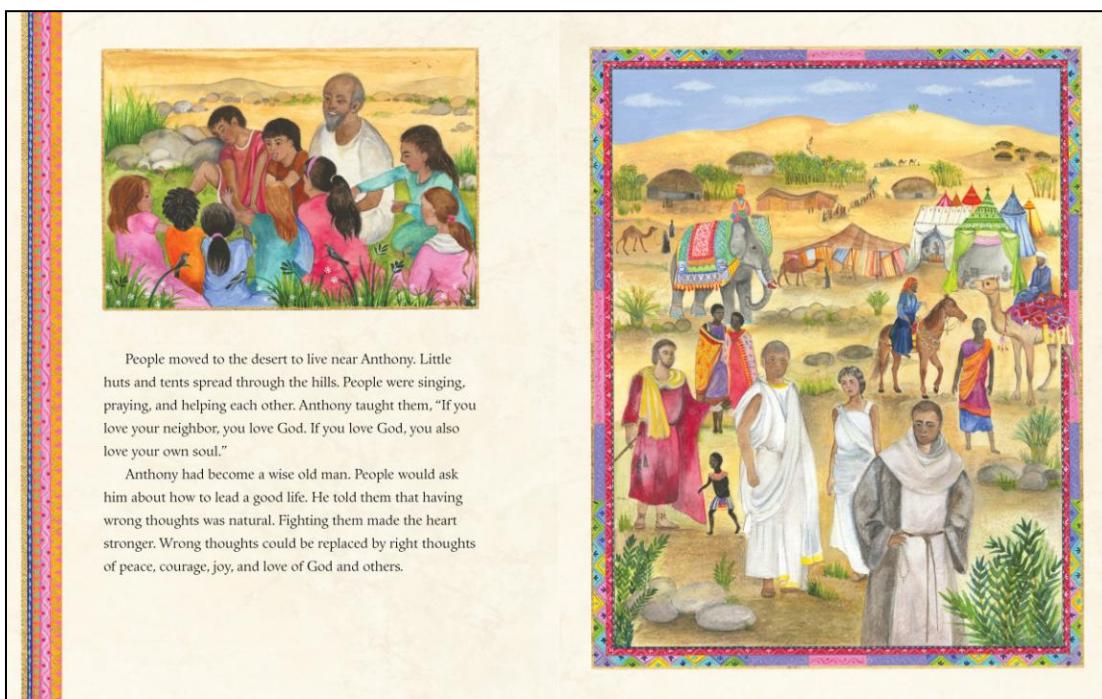

Many years ago in Egypt, a young man named Anthony began a long trip to a place close by.

Anthony was born in Koma, Egypt. His parents were Christian. He was a happy child. When he was about nineteen years old, Anthony's parents died, leaving him and his sister alone. His heart was sad. What should he do? At church one day Anthony heard Christ's advice in the Bible. “If you want to be perfect, go, sell all you own. Give to the poor. Then you will have treasure in heaven. Come, follow me” (Matthew 19:21).

People moved to the desert to live near Anthony. Little huts and tents spread through the hills. People were singing, praying, and helping each other. Anthony taught them, “If you love your neighbor, you love God. If you love God, you also love your own soul.”

Anthony had become a wise old man. People would ask him about how to lead a good life. He told them that having wrong thoughts was natural. Fighting them made the heart stronger. Wrong thoughts could be replaced by right thoughts of peace, courage, joy, and love of God and others.

About the Authors

Archdeacon John Chryssavgis is an award-winning author of over 20 books for adults and children, a translator, an educator, and a clergyman of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America. He completed his doctoral studies in Patristics (the study of the early Church Fathers) at the University of Oxford in 1983. Fr. John's books include The World My Church (co-authored with Sophie Chryssavgis), In the Heart of the Desert: The Spirituality of the Desert Fathers and Mothers, and Remembering and Reclaiming Diakonia: The Diaconate Yesterday and Today. Chryssavgis serves as theological advisor to His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, the spiritual leader of the world's 300 million Orthodox Christians. He has just completed a two-volume series entitled Primacy in the Church, highlighting his interest in relations between the Orthodox and Roman Catholic Churches. In 2014 Chryssavgis was involved in organizing and directing the press office for the meetings of the Pope and the Patriarch in Jerusalem and Istanbul, which is documented in the book Dialogue of Love: Breaking the Silence of Centuries. Born in Australia, he now lives in Harpswell, ME.

Marilyn Rouvelas is the author of A Guide to Greek Traditions and Customs in America and several books for children. With Jeanette Aydlette, Marilyn has authored Peter Clashes with Anger, Eleni Looks at Jealousy, and The Truth about Lying, which are aimed at helping children understand when their thoughts are wrong and drawing on the power of being quiet and still to calm themselves. Marilyn is also actively involved in raising awareness about the history of ordained women deacons in the Orthodox Church with the hope that ordinations will someday take place again. A mother of two grown children and a grandmother of four, Marilyn lives with her husband in Arlington, Virginia, across the river from Washington, D.C. and the Lincoln Memorial.
